

TOMBSTONE EPITAPH

PUBLISHED EVERY SUNDAY.

One year, $4.00
Six months, $2.50

A prominent English physician suggests that a good way to cure the anarchists of their murderous rage would be to declare them all insane and treat them like madmen. He wisely points out the fact that executing them simply enables them to pose as martyrs before their fellows, and influences others to emulate their honors; while if they were treated like people of disordered intellect, declared insane, and confined in a madhouse, it would be humiliating, and a serious discouragement for their imitators. There is good ground for such proceedings, as anarchy is nothing more or less than a homicidal mania, and all persons who advocate its principles should be promptly confined where they could do no harm.

With the admission of Arizona and New Mexico there will be a group of eleven states west of the Mississippi river possessing a marked community of interests. They will have in common, in a greater or less degree, mining, forestry, agriculture, viticulture, and horticulture, and the raising of flocks and herds, all of which industries have grown away or drifted away from many of the older states, if they ever possessed them. They will have a marked community of interest in the reclamation and irrigation of the arid public lands of the United States within their several domains, and by united and consistent effort may accomplish untold good for future generations. Then, too, when it comes to the discussion and settlement of financial and monetary questions, eleven states, with twenty-two senators acting in concert, regardless of strict party lines, can lay down the law to the nation. There seems to be no immediate chance to get rid of the solid south, but if we can oppose it by a solid west, or, in certain proper cases, make an alliance with it, it will not be hard to demonstrate to Wall street that it does not rule the country, and that when one goes west to settle, it will hardly do for him to stop at Buffalo.

The more we can do just now by way of pushing the statehood proposition, the greater chances we will enjoy of speedy admission.

The democratic party is a unit for statehood for Arizona. The question of its political complexion does not enter as a factor in the fight.

Two women held up a man at an obscure railroad station in Montana Sunday and robbed him. This is obstructing male with a vengeance.

Arizona is today the safest place in the union for the investment of capital. Its values are not inflated, the conditions which insure its prosperity are fixed and permanent, the sentiments of the masses of its people are conservative.

A member of congress recently complained that the principal business of the United States circuit court seems to be running the railroads of the country. There are now 152 railroads being operated under the orders of the courts, and they represent 43,000 miles of road and a capital of $2,500,000,000.

If President Cleveland has done many things which do not meet with the approbation of his party, he has done Arizona a service in giving her a territorial administration made up of an element that brings the better side of politics to the front, and commands the respect of all well meaning citizens. There is no disguising the fact that the time has come when we must appeal to the intelligence rather than to the curiosity of would-be settlers of Arizona to induce them to make homes in Arizona. The present territorial administration has made great strides in this direction. To Governor Hughes, Secretary Bruce and Attorney-General Hency is due in a large degree, our rapid stride in the direction of statehood. By their presence at Washington and appearance before the senate committee, they cleared away the clouds that obstructed the vision, and opened a path that left us clear sailing to the long desired goal. Less patriotic and more selfish men would have clung to a territorial form of government, knowing that statehood would legislate them out of office. This has been the history of the past, and that the present administration is an exception to the rule is cause for congratulations.

COPPER RIVETED OVERALLS
SPRING BOTTOM PANTS
EVERY PAIR GUARANTEED.
ADDRESS SAN FRANCISCO CAL.

From Thursday's Daily.

Geo. Daily is in Tucson.

The Gila Bend well is down 1042 feet.

Ed Land is in Tucson on his way home.

J. H. White returned to California today.

The smelter at Globe will shut down August 12th.

A Chinaman has started a tobacco factory in Tucson.

Peaches are in market that are a delight just to look at.

J. S. Robbins and wife took their departure today for the east.

Ben Goodrich is paying a business visit to his old home in Texas.

The population of Japan is 30,000,000; that of China 450,000,000.

A. Noyes came up yesterday from Fairbank with a load of encumbers.

The rain gauge registered 1-10 of an inch as the result of the shower this afternoon.

Miss Margaret Gray left today for California. Her brother accompanied her to Benson.

Rev. Dilly was the only passenger on the outgoing coach this morning; his destination being Nogales.

During the week ending last Friday 400 freight cars passed Gila Bend east-bound and 450 west-bound.

Mrs. John Waters and children left today for St. Louis for a visit to relatives of several months duration.

Mrs. D. Choat, Miss Hazel Choat and Miss Mamie Reath went out to the Choat ranch today to spend a week.

Bud Hood is in town from his ranch near the head of the San Pedro. He says that not a great deal of rain has fallen in that vicinity. Grass is just beginning to show.

J. F. Elwell, secretary of the asylum board, resigned Saturday, the notice thereof to take effect September 1st. His office was about to be abolished as a useless expense of $200 per annum.

Anyone having old reading matter to dispose of will find the patients at the hospital very appreciative. Donations may be left at the Penitentiary office or dropped into the doctor's buggy.

N. A. McDonald was brought in today from Charleston by G. W. Cheyney, suffering from a badly contused hand and wrist, the result of an accident. The injuries were attended to by Dr. Helmsboe.

Lightning destroyed seven telegraph poles between Benson and Pantano during the late storm. Three of the poles were snapped off at the level of the ground. Others were shattered and broken higher.

The completion of the new railroad to Wickenburg will probably make that station the forwarding point for the Hargus Hala mines. Between these points by way of Cullen's wells, is only 65 miles of excellent road.

Chicken thieves are depredating roosts in various parts of the town, that of G. W. Swain being the latest. Two shots were fired at the intruder, who strangled two chickens in his fright as he took his hasty departure.

At Canoa the baling of the late crop of barley hay, of 250 tons, is about half done. The work has been suspended awaiting the passing of the rainy season. The alfalfa, to which the new land at Canoa was seeded, is coming on finely.

The outlook for good stock and plenty in Arizona was never better than at present. The increase this year will be very nearly 100 per cent. There is hardly a cow on the ranges but that is accompanied by a bouncy, frisky calf.

S. G. Spier, supposed to be the murderer of the woman who was killed in Tucson, was a national reputation as a desperado. In 1886 he made his first continental trip on a bicycle, and on his journey from New York to San Francisco carried a bag of gold.

Santer has a sensation in the capture of Young Joe, the last of the revolutionaries. When met and a fight with him, he was killed. Governor James was the first to take the great prize. The body was taken to the City of Mexico, and is now in the hands of the government.

A number in the name of Margaret Gray, a woman who was killed in Tucson, was a national reputation as a desperado. In 1886 he made his first continental trip on a bicycle, and on his journey from New York to San Francisco carried a bag of gold.

The body of a man who was killed in Tucson, was a national reputation as a desperado. In 1886 he made his first continental trip on a bicycle, and on his journey from New York to San Francisco carried a bag of gold.

Francisco Dominguez, a man who was killed in Tucson, was a national reputation as a desperado. In 1886 he made his first continental trip on a bicycle, and on his journey from New York to San Francisco carried a bag of gold.

Alfreda, a woman who was killed in Tucson, was a national reputation as a desperado. In 1886 he made his first continental trip on a bicycle, and on his journey from New York to San Francisco carried a bag of gold.

Alfreda, a woman who was killed in Tucson, was a national reputation as a desperado. In 1886 he made his first continental trip on a bicycle, and on his journey from New York to San Francisco carried a bag of gold.

Alfreda, a woman who was killed in Tucson, was a national reputation as a desperado. In 1886 he made his first continental trip on a bicycle, and on his journey from New York to San Francisco carried a bag of gold.

Alfreda, a woman who was killed in Tucson, was a national reputation as a desperado. In 1886 he made his first continental trip on a bicycle, and on his journey from New York to San Francisco carried a bag of gold.

Alfreda, a woman who was killed in Tucson, was a national reputation as a desperado. In 1886 he made his first continental trip on a bicycle, and on his journey from New York to San Francisco carried a bag of gold.

Alfreda, a woman who was killed in Tucson, was a national reputation as a desperado. In 1886 he made his first continental trip on a bicycle, and on his journey from New York to San Francisco carried a bag of gold.

Alfreda, a woman who was killed in Tucson, was a national reputation as a desperado. In 1886 he made his first continental trip on a bicycle, and on his journey from New York to San Francisco carried a bag of gold.

Alfreda, a woman who was killed in Tucson, was a national reputation as a desperado. In 1886 he made his first continental trip on a bicycle, and on his journey from New York to San Francisco carried a bag of gold.

Alfreda, a woman who was killed in Tucson, was a national reputation as a desperado. In 1886 he made his first continental trip on a bicycle, and on his journey from New York to San Francisco carried a bag of gold.

Alfreda, a woman who was killed in Tucson, was a national reputation as a desperado. In 1886 he made his first continental trip on a bicycle, and on his journey from New York to San Francisco carried a bag of gold.

Alfreda, a woman who was killed in Tucson, was a national reputation as a desperado. In 1886 he made his first continental trip on a bicycle, and on his journey from New York to San Francisco carried a bag of gold.

Alfreda, a woman who was killed in Tucson, was a national reputation as a desperado. In 1886 he made his first continental trip on a bicycle, and on his journey from New York to San Francisco carried a bag of gold.

Send us the money for the book and we will send you the book.

Send us the money for the book and we will send you the book.

Send us the money for the book and we will send you the book.

Send us the money for the book and we will send you the book.

Send us the money for the book and we will send you the book.

Send us the money for the book and we will send you the book.

Send us the money for the book and we will send you the book.

Send us the money for the book and we will send you the book.

Send us the money for the book and we will send you the book.

Send us the money for the book and we will send you the book.

Send us the money for the book and we will send you the book.

Send us the money for the book and we will send you the book.

Send us the money for the book and we will send you the book.

Send us the money for the book and we will send you the book.

Send us the money for the book and we will send you the book.

Send us the money for the book and we will send you the book.

Send us the money for the book and we will send you the book.

Send us the money for the book and we will send you the book.

Send us the money for the book and we will send you the book.

Send us the money for the book and we will send you the book.

Send us the money for the book and we will send you the book.

Send us the money for the book and we will send you the book.

Send us the money for the book and we will send you the book.

Send us the money for the book and we will send you the book.

Send us the money for the book and we will send you the book.

Send us the money for the book and we will send you the book.

Send us the money for the book and we will send you the book.

Send us the money for the book and we will send you the book.

Send us the money for the book and we will send you the book.

Send us the money for the book and we will send you the book.

Send us the money for the book and we will send you the book.

Send us the money for the book and we will send you the book.

Send us the money for the book and we will send you the book.

Send us the money for the book and we will send you the book.

Send us the money for the book and we will send you the book.

Send us the money for the book and we will send you the book.

Send us the money for the book and we will send you the book.

Send us the money for the book and we will send you the book.

Send us the money for the book and we will send you the book.

Send us the money for the book and we will send you the book.

Send us the money for the book and we will send you the book.

Send us the money for the book and we will send you the book.

Send us the money for the book and we will send you the book.

Send us the money for the book and we will send you the book.

Send us the money for the book and we will send you the book.

Send us the money for the book and we will send you the book.

Send us the money for the book and we will send you the book.

Send us the money for the book and we will send you the book.

Send us the money for the book and we will send you the book.

Send us the money for the book and we will send you the book.

Send us the money for the book and we will send you the book.

Send us the money for the book and we will send you the book.

Send us the money for the book and we will send you the book.

Send us the money for the book and we will send you the book.